COMPLETE OVERVIEW COMPLETE OVERVIEW

When it comes to cost, time, and performance, IT, R&D and product development organizations are under increasing pressure these days.

Do your managers, controllers, and employees have transparent and real-time access to relevant project data? Is it possible to compare data across several projects, phases, and countries? Do the projects that ensure added value in compliance with your corporate strategy really have top priority?

Only Integrated Enterprise Project and Portfolio Management (EPM) solutions help meet the challenges of today and tomorrow. A sound EPM solution can optimize your project organization in a host of areas including:

- Strategic Portfolio Planning
- Investment Management
- Innovation Management
- Delivery Management
- Multiple Project Management
- Risk Management
- Resource Management
- Financial Management

In short, you will finally get a look at the big picture.

Contec-X GmbH is a consulting company and service provider that specializing in customized Enterprise Project and Portfolio Management (EPM) solutions. ## EXPERIENTIAL GAINS EXPERIENTIAL GAINS

“Contec-X combines extensive knowledge of CA Clarity and expertise in project and portfolio management with many years of experience with customized solutions for our customers.”

Uwe Rösch, Sales Manager CA Clarity Division,
CA Corporation GmbH

To get the perfect solution, you need the right combination of software, methods, concepts, and processes. Our competence and methodology has convinced both customers and suppliers. Contec-X is a certified partner of Computer Associates for the EPM software CA Clarity™ and a partner of Microsoft.

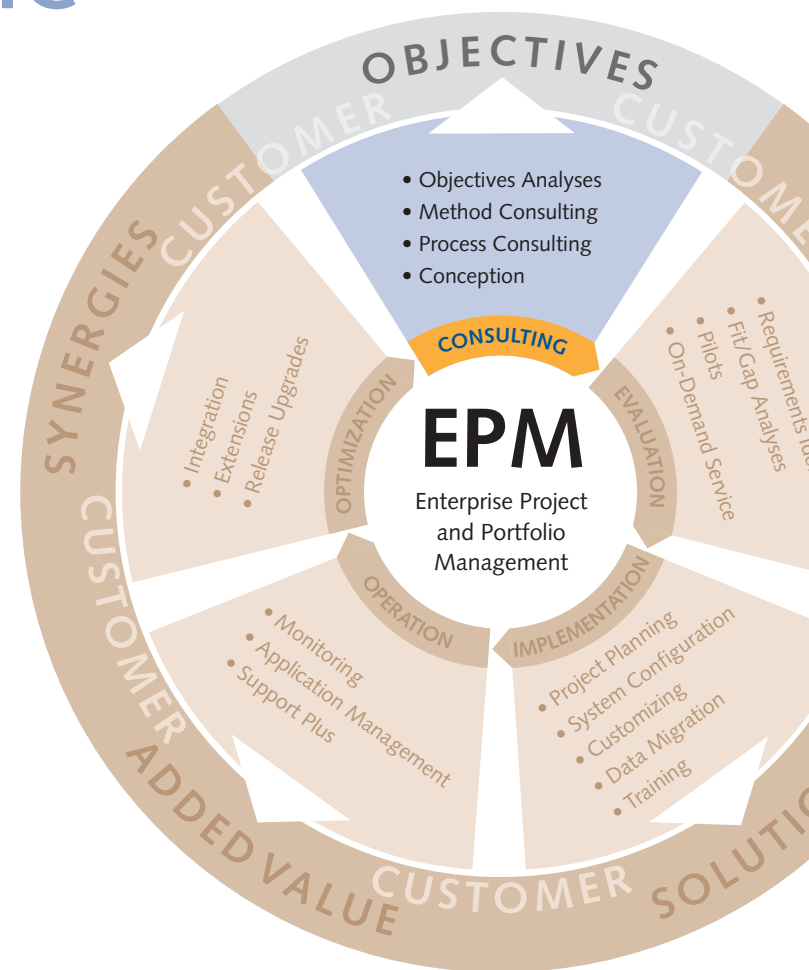

Your company is unique, and your project organization will have defined custom strategies and strengths to achieve corporate objectives.

BEARING YOUR STRATEGIC GOALS IN MIND

Therefore, the most important issue at the beginning of an EPM project is whether the EPM solution supports your corporate strategy and can ensure that it is taken into account in each individual project. You should only introduce EPM if it can help you achieve your company objectives faster and more efficiently.

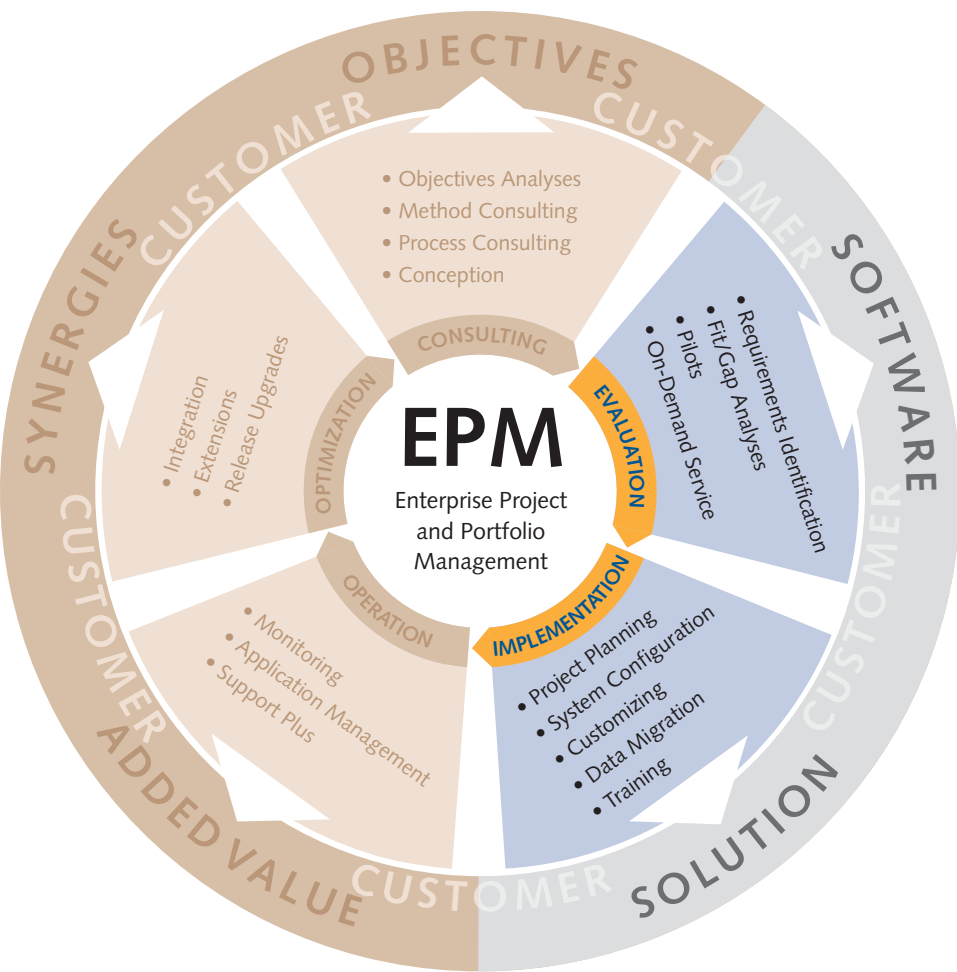

During the consulting phase, we work with you to define the objectives for your EPM solution and identify the required processes and methods. Our consultants' methodical expertise and knowledge of the latest technological developments and best EPM practices provide the ideal basis for an open and target-oriented choice of software and ensure that objectives, processes, and software pursue the same strategy.

From experience, we know that the more external and internal know-how is compiled during the initial phase, the greater your success. A well thought-out EPM concept ensures a fast and sustainable ROI.

“Contec-X provided extensive consulting and support in terms of product implementation, portfolio and project management. It met our requirements with utmost flexibility and reliability.”

Ulrich Kolzenburg,
Head of Project Management Center,
Giesecke & Devrient GmbH

In a first step, we demonstrate which EPM software product really meets your technical, methodical, and economic requirements. And we help you put it into practice. During the evaluation phase, our services enable you to thoroughly test the EPM software using real company data. Our many years of experience guarantee that your EPM project is planned realistically, and we provide for an implementation that consistently keeps track of your corporate goals.

You receive a complete solution and a technical concept factoring in important aspects such as training, integration, or data archival into account. We assist you step by step in the installation, configuration, customization, data migration, tests, and implementation process. Our ASP services are particularly useful at this point and can replace the time-consuming installation of special test and training systems.

DOING THE RIGHT THING DOING THE RIGHT THING

“The flexibility of CA Clarity™ and the extensive knowledge of Contec-X were crucial for the efficient and successful implementation.”

Ralf Hersel, Project Manager,
Audatex GmbH, Zurich

The bottom line: You gain external expertise, reduce your internal personnel costs, and benefit from extremely short realization phases.

Requirements change over time, and your EPM solution has to be adjusted respectively. Yet again, we can provide valuable support. During the implementation and optimization phase for your EPM solution, you can benefit from our wide range of services and software extensions.

Since we are familiar with the specifics of your EPM system by now, we can offer you inexpensive support services as well as an application management that includes software upgrades and system monitoring. Our software extensions enhance and simplify evaluations and reports. In addition, the service offering includes user training in the technology and methodology deployed.

ENSURING MAXIMUM VALUE

All of our services have one purpose, and that is to maximize the availability and value of the EPM solution in your company and thus ensure quick and sustainable ROI.

“We have been working with Contec-X since May 2004, and we are very satisfied with their services. Comprehensive technical and professional know-how enables Contec-X to help us efficiently meet the targets and requirements of our EPM solution.”
